Key to the calendar section:

I have tried (though not 100% successfully) to standardize the status of an event by the way the date is listed:

* If you see a date for 2022, that event has has been scheduled for this year (at least according to its website), and I indicate "online" for those such events.

* If you see a month without a year, I found no definitive information on the website, but I would suggest you assume that the event is canceled for this year unless you find out otherwise.

ONGOING ONLINE EVENTS:

* This Facebook group and its associated Google calendar is a good resource for online jams (Zoom jams, where one person leads while everyone else mutes; old time & Irish)
